Index to Volume 10

Articles

Adams Smith, D. E. Linguistic and semantic changes in the revised Anglican liturgy 269

Black, Elizabeth. The nature of fictional discourse: a case study 281

Bongaerts, Theo and Nanda Poulisse. Communication strategies in L2 and L2: same or different? 253

Brown, Gillian. Making sense: the interaction of linguistic expression and contextual information 97

Cameron, Judy and W. Frank Epling. Successful problem solving as a function of interaction style for non-native students of English 392

Cazden, Courtney B. Contributions of the Bakhtin circle to 'communicative competence' 116

Davies, Alan. Communicative competence as language use 157

Dubin, Fraida. Situating literacy within traditions of communicative competence 171

Dyste, Connie. Proposition 63: the California English Language Amendment 313

Edge, Julian. Ablocutionary value: on the application of language teaching to linguistics 407

Harley, Birgit. Functional grammar in French immersion: a classroom experiment 331

Holmes, Janet. Sex differences and apologies: one aspect of communicative competence 194

Hornberger, Nancy H. Trámites and Transportes: the acquisition of second language communicative competence for one speech event in Puno, Peru 214

Hymes, Dell. Postscript (to Volume 10, Number 2: Selected papers from the proceedings of the BAAL/AAAL joint seminar 'Communicative competence revisited') 244

James, Allan R. Linguistic theory and second language phonological learning 367

Kerim-Zade, Irinia, and Vladimir Pavlov. The semantico-functional variability of words and the teaching of vocabulary to advanced EFL students 382

Myers, Greg. The pragmatics of politeness in scientific articles 1

O'Malley, J. Michael, Anna Uhl Chamot, and Lisa Küpper. Listening comprehension strategies in second language aquisition 418

Pienemann, Manfred. Is language teachable? Psycholinguistic experiments and hypotheses 52

Richards, Keith, and John Skelton. Nodes and networks: choosing for real 231

Sa'adeddin, Mohammed Akram A. M. Text development and Arabic-English negative interference 36
Spolsky, Bernard. Communicative competence, language proficiency, and beyond 138
Stalker, James C. Communicative competence, pragmatic functions, and accommodation 182
Swisher, M. Virginia, and David McKee. The sociolinguistic situation of natural sign languages 294
Widdowson, H. G. Knowledge of language and ability for use 128
Zuengler, Jane. Identity and IL development and use 80

Reviews
Baker, Colin: Key Issues in Bilingualism and Bilingual Education; Gearold Mac Eoin, Anders Ahlqvist, and Donncha O Haodha (eds.): Third International Conference on Minority Languages: General Papers (Bernard Spolsky) 449
Edwards, A. D., and D. P. G. Westgate: Investigating Classroom Talk (Courtney B. Cazden) 447
Færch, Claus, and Gabriele Kasper (eds.): Introspection in Second Language Research (Rod Ellis) 360

Books Received 110
454